

Training programme on Android Application Development at IIITDM, Jabalpur

ICAR-ATARI, Jabalpur organized training programme for Programme Assistant (Computer) at KVKs in collaboration with Indian Institute of Information Technology, Design and Manufacturing (IIITDM), Jabalpur during July 9-13, 2018. The training programme focused on use of Android Studio, Android Manifest, Best Practices and Implementations in app development. Mr Taha M. Asadullah, Chief Technology Officer, Geelani Consultancy and Solutions and Mr Allahbaksh Asadullah from TCS were the invited guest faculty who provided training in app development to the participants. Dr Atul Dupta, Associate Professor, Computer Sc & Engineering, IIITDM, Jabalpur and Dr A. A. Raut Scientist ICAR-ATARI, Jabalpur were the coordinators for the training programme. A total of 51 participants participated in the programme and training session were comprised of theory with live demos and hands on lab session.

During the Valedictory Function on July 13, 2018 Dr Aparajita Ojha Professor & Head Computer Science & Engineering, interacted with the participants in about Integration ICT Application in Mobile telephony through app. Dr Anupam Mishra Director ICAR-ATARI, Jabalpur in his address to the participants urged the participants to enhance their outreach to all the villages in the district. He emphasized that in addition to Kisan Mobile Advisory through SMS, mobile apps can also be innovative tool to enhance their outreach in technology dissemination. The participants shared their views with the dignitaries regarding the training programme.

